

SICK CUT

Controversial French anti-smoking campaign leaves objectors fume-ing

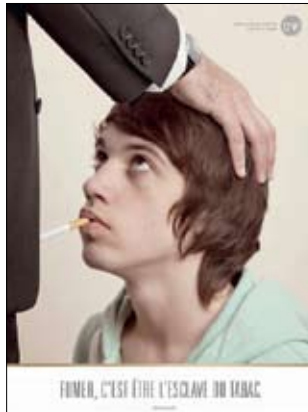

A NEW ADVERT BY A FRENCH anti-ciggies group has caused a stink. The clip, by Droits des Non-Fumeurs (Non-smokers' Rights), shows teenagers with phallic fags in their mouths, kneeling in a position that suggests they're being forced to give oral sex to an older man. The accompanying slogan reads 'Smoking Means Being A Slave To Tobacco'.

Protesters have complained that the campaign trivialises paedophilia and suggests that, like smoking, sexual abuse is something that people consciously choose to get involved with and should feel guilty about.

However, a spokesperson for Droits des Non-Fumeurs says that the ads are intended to "target young people who see cigarettes as symbols of freedom, when they really cause dependency and submission".

The posters are being shown in bars, cafes and tobacco shops.

Do you think photos of kids giving Benson & Head-ges are appropriately hard-hitting? Or do they make you see (Marlboro) red? Get involved with the debate at YourBizarre.com

PICTURES: REX

CANINE COCK BLOCKER

Fido ain't gettin' no tail thanks to these new dog chastity belts

'WHEN THE HEAT IS ON, BLOCK IT, LOCK IT, STOP IT!'

That's the slogan of the new Pet Anti-Breeding System (PABS): a chastity belt for pooches. The device, which starts at $65 (£44), is a harness that holds a mesh 'cock-blocking' panel in place over a bitch's beaver, to prevent randy mongrels from doing her doggy-style. Denied!

Pooches can still poo and wee through the webbing, but owners are advised to wash it every day to get rid of rank piss stains and dangle-berries. When their mutt's on heat, they'll also have to wash her 'Sani-T Pad': a re-usable fleabag jam-rag that fits into the PABS to "absorb fluids emitted during the early stages of a female dog's cycle". Woahhhh, Doggyform! Doggyformed for youuuu!

The PABS was invented by Dexter Blanch from Louisiana, who came up with the idea during a long stay in hospital, following a freak hunting accident – one of his beagles managed to jump up and fire his shotgun into his arm, leaving him with a 20cm wound.

"While recovering, I devised the PABS, which prevents dogs from having to be spayed or neutered, and also stops unwanted puppies from being conceived. I've recently been contacted by a gent from Turkey who wants me to produce a similar system for camels," Dexter says.

It's a tongue-twister: Humperdink's got the hump that his hump-backed herd keep humping. Harumph!

GOOD AIDS

New concept hearing aid could make sounds as clear as a flesh-tubular bell

HEAR ME NOW! CREATIVE PRODUCT design collaborative DesignAffairs STUDIO have drawn up plans for a hearing aid that's meant to fit into stretched ear lobes. The device is only at the concept stage right now, but there are two versions on the table:

a hollow flesh tube sound enhancer for folk who are moderately hard of hearing, and a solid, technology-packed plug for the extremely deaf.

Sadly, the designers told us that Bizarre "isn't the kind of platform they have in mind for their concept", so they "won't consider an interview" – who do they think's more suitable, Country Living? – so we can't tell you if they're ever going to actually manufacture the product. Honestly, we tried, but our desperate wheeling and begging fell on deaf ears...

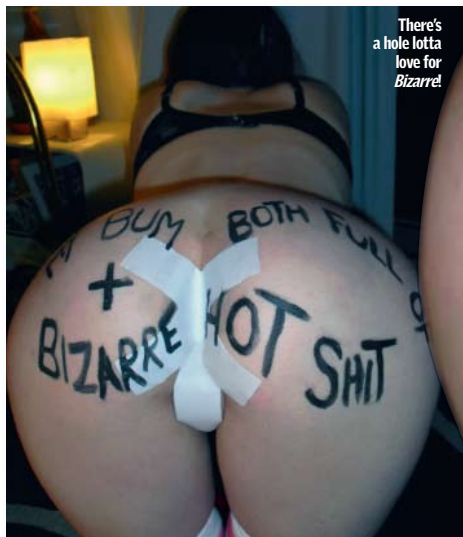

Studioblog.designaffairs.com

BUM NOTE

I hope that someone gets my message on a botty

CHEEKYNOTE.COM IS A NEW SERVICE that'll write your message on a model's bum (or torso, but who'd do that when ass is on offer?), take a picture of it, and email it to whoever you like. Company boss Sir White Tape tells Bizarre, "We have plans to introduce notes written on totally nude girls soon, but at present ladies cover up their private parts with panties, thongs, or sticky stationery labels slapped over their brown eye and clam entrance."

Careful of paper cuts around your poo chute, missus! Bizarre thinks a big arrow pointing at the lass's back-door brownie bakery, saying "You've been dumped!" would be a great way of ditching someone.

Cheekynote.com brought out the big bums

TYSON TURNS FEATHERWEIGHT

Mike shows off a classic piece from his novelty bong collection

PICTURES: GETTY, CHEEKYNOTE.COM

Ear-chomping rapey boxer to make pigeon-based television show

BOXER AND CONVICTED RAPIST MIKE TYSON IS shooting a reality show about pigeon racing, which is due to air in early 2011. The Animal Planet channel's Taking On Tyson will see the former world heavyweight champ learn to train a flock of feathered friends, then pit them against more experienced flyers.

Tyson's been a pigeon-fancying bird breeder for most of his life. His interest developed as a child, after hoodlums in his hometown of New York City bullied him into cleaning shit out of bird cages made of milk crates. He owns more than 350 pigeons, many of which he's raised from chicks.

When we Googled 'pigeon + boxer', this is what came up (right). We're not sure which is more pants: novelty underwear, or the fact that a violent rapist has been given his own telly show. Does Tyson deserve a second chance, or do you hope the pigeons shit on his head? Get involved with the debate at Yourbizarre.com

Pigeons: Cooler than cocks